<sup>1</sup> If the converting entity is to be a registered limited liability partnership, then a separate application for registration must be submitted and filed under the provisions of Article 6132b-3.08(b) of the Revised Partnership Act. This fee table does not reflect the fee associated with the application for registration.

<sup>2</sup> An "other entity" would be an entity that is not filed with the Texas Secretary of State, other than a partnership filing evidence of a conversion pursuant to Article 6132b-9.05 of the Texas Revised Partnership Act. For example, a foreign corporation (profit or non-profit), limited liability company, limited partnership, or a domestic or foreign real estate investment trust, or other legal entity.

<sup>3</sup> The conversion of a Texas limited partnership to a general partnership or vice versa is governed by article 6132b-9.01, Texas Revised Partnership Act. This transaction is not evidenced by the filing of articles of conversion, merely the filing of a certificate of limited partnership or a cancellation, as applicable.
